

Call for Manuscripts

The Kantian Digital Library, part of the journal Con-Textos Kantianos, is looking for manuscripts, essay collections, and translations devoted to any aspect of Kant's writings. We will consider submissions in six different languages: Spanish, German, English, French, Italian, and Portuguese. Decisions for publication are based on two fundamental criteria, intellectual courage and originality, since our primary goal is to advance current discussions and open new paths of inquiry in the Kantian world.

All manuscripts are initially evaluated by the series editors and submitted to a strenuous double-blind review process. Contracts will be issued by Alamanda Publishing House, and, to ensure the long-term viability of this project, we are requesting authors to pay minimum formatting costs and on-demand printing expenses. Questions or proposals should be sent to: contextoskantianos@gmail.com

There are four main series to consider:

- Kantian Hermeneutics/Hermeneutica Kantiana: main editor Nuria Sánchez Madrid (Spain)
- Kantian Dialectic/Dialectica Kantiana: main editor Pablo Muchnik (USA)
- Kantian Questions/Questiones Kantianae: main editor María Julia Bertomeu (Argentina)
- Kantian Translation/Translatio Kantiana: main editor Roberto R. Aramayo (Spain)

We have created a new webpage where titles in our series can be downloaded for free. Please visit: <https://ctkebooks.net>
